The Tongass National Forest, Thorne Bay Ranger District, is preparing an Environmental Assessment (EA) for the Kosciusko Vegetation Management and Watershed Improvement Project. This proposed project is located on the southern half of Kosciusko Island, northwest of Prince of Wales Island. The Kosciusko Project action alternatives are intended to: 1) help move the Forest forward in transitioning to young-growth management while enhancing wildlife habitat, improving riparian areas, and maintaining function of high-vulnerability karst areas; 2) supply a small component of old growth to meet the needs of the local community; 3) restore riparian management areas and improve fish habitat; 4) manage water flow and blockages to improve karst hydrologic systems; and 5) treat invasive plant infestations. The purpose would be accomplished primarily through young-growth vegetation treatments, young-growth and old-growth timber harvest, stream restoration treatments, invasive plant management, and road treatments. The majority of timber harvest is planned within 50 to 60 year-old young- growth stands which established naturally after harvest. Some old-growth units are planned in stands suitable for small timber offerings to local operators as timber sales or stewardship contracts. All proposed commercial harvest areas are included within the Timber Production Land Use Designation. Treatments in young- growth stands would be focused on the portion of the landscape where restorative treatments are currently needed. The Responsible Official for this project is:
