Chapter II – Analysis of the Management Situation Summary

Introduction II-1
Determining Need for Change II-2
How Needs for Change Were Identified.....II-2
Forest Plan Decisions.....II-4
Management Direction that Needs to be Changed and Established II-5
Need For Change Topics II-5
Topic 1 – Biological Diversity.....II-6
Topic 2 - Fire and Smoke Management.....II-10
Topic 3 - Habitat Fragmentation and Disruption.....II-14
Topic 4 - Non-native Plants II-17
Topic 5 - Rangeland/Grazing Resources II-19
Topic 6 – Hydrologic, Riparian, and Aquatic Resources II-22
Topic 7 - Timberland Suitability II-27
Topic 8 - Management Emphasis Areas II-29
Wild and Scenic Rivers.....II-30
Inventoried Roadless Areas II-31
Management Area Boundaries.....II-33
Strengthening Current Management Direction.....II-34
Ecosystem Management II-34
Treaty Rights and the Federal Trust Responsibilities.....II-34
Heritage Program.....II-35
Forest Land Acquisition Priorities.....II-36
Special Uses.....II-36
Scenic Byway Designations.....II-36
Winter Recreation Areas.....II-37
Predator Control.....II-37
Management Area Direction.....II-38
Other Changes or Developments Since the Preliminary AMS.....II-38
Interior Columbia Basin Ecosystem Management Project.....II-38
2001 Road Management Final Rule and Administrative Policy II-39
Lynx Listing.....II-40
2001 Roadless Area Conservation Rule II-41
National Fire Plan, Cohesive and Comprehensive Strategies, Heatlhy Forests Initiative.....II-43
Planning Regulations and Committee of Scientists Report.....II-44
Ecosystem Management II-44
Continuous Assessment and Planning II-45

Management Prescription Categories III-88
Management Area 1 – Sawtooth Wilderness III-100
Management Area 2 – Upper Salmon River Valley III-106
Management Area 3 – East Fork Salmon River/White Clouds III-133
Management Area 4 – Big Wood River III-144
Management Area 5 – Little Wood River III-167
Management Area 6 – Upper South Fork Boise River III-179
Management Area 7 – Little Smoky Creek III-193
Management Area 8 – Middle South Fork Boise River III-205
Management Area 9 – Lime Creek III-219
Management Area 10 – Soldier Creek/Willow Creek III-230
Management Area 11 – Rock Creek III-241
Management Area 12 – Cottonwood Creek III-253
Management Area 13 – Trapper Creek/Goose Creek III-263
Management Area 14 – Shoshone Creek III-274
Management Area 15 – Albion Mountains III-283
Management Area 16 – Howell Creek III-292
Management Area 17 – Independence Lakes III-303
Management Area 18 – Raft River III-313
Management Area 19 – Black Pine III-324
Management Area 20 – Sublett III-335

Chapter – IV Implementation of the Forest Plan

Implementation Direction IV-1
General Description IV-1
Budget Proposals IV-1
NFMA and NEPA Compliance IV-1
Project Implementation in Inventoried Roadless Areas IV-2
Monitoring and Evaluation IV-3
Overview IV-3
Monitoring and Evaluation Strategy IV-4
Forest Land and Resource Plan Evaluation and Reports IV-4
Monitoring Elements IV-6
Fish and Wildlife Management Indicator Species IV-16
Pileated Woodpecker IV-16
Northern Goshawks IV-17
Greater Sage-grouse IV-18
Bull Trout IV-19
Yellowstone Cutthroat Trout IV-20

Table C-3. Rare Communities, Federal and State Status, Rarity Class, Threats, Trends, and Research Natural Area Distribution for the Sawtooth National Forest.....C-5
Table C-4. Plant Species of Cultural Importance for the Sawtooth National Forest C-6

Appendix D – Wild and Scenic River Eligibility Study

Introduction..... D-1
Intent of the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act D-1

Review of Eligibility Methodology D-2
Final Land and Resource Management Plan Findings D-8
Literature Cited D-16

Appendix E – Wildlife and Fish
Wildlife Conservation Strategy Overview E-1
Assessment Supporting Wildlife Conservation Strategy Development E-2
Wildlife Conservation Strategy Long-term Goal E-6
Assessing Current Baselines, Threats, and Risks Needed to Develop the Wildlife Conservation Strategy E-7
Wildlife Conservation Strategy Mid-scale Spatial Priorities and Type of Restoration E-14
Implementing Wildlife Conservation Strategy Priorities and Strategies at the Fine Scale, Taking Action, and Measuring Success E-15

Appendix F – Recreation Opportunity Spectrum
ROS and Its Role in Forest Plan Revision F-1
ROS Class Descriptions F-1
