

Figure 3–1.—The canopy of moist forests at low elevations is formed by broad tree crowns, as illustrated by this forest in Panama.