Bankhead National Forest – Big Tree Wildfire, Sipsey Wilderness

Incident: Big Tree Wildfire

Released: 10/22/2015-Time: 5:00 p.m.

A 1135-acre wildfire continues to burn in the Sipsey Wilderness of the Bankhead National Forest as of Oct. 22. U.S. Forest Service fire personnel are taking immediate action to contain the fire that has temporarily closed 8 trails leading into the Sipsey Wilderness. Today's strategy is to control and improve the fire. We will also continue limited burn out operations to strengthen fire lines. A burn out tactic is when firefighters set fire inside a control line to widen it or consume fuel (forest debris) between the edge of the fire and the control line. The public living near the Sipsey Wilderness may see an increase in smoke and Forest Service personnel. Hikers planning to use 4 open trails in the Sipsey Wilderness and hunters in the Black Warrior Management Area are asked to check the Forest Service website, bulletin boards, Facebook and Twitter for a listing of open trails and status updates. The safety of the public and wildland firefighters is our number one priority.
