The Molly's Rock Picnic Area, built on the site of an old homestead, is located near a massive granite boulder known locally as Molly's Rock. The origin of this name is uncertain because there are several different accounts of its source. The picnic shelter was constructed by the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) sometime between 1936 and 1942.

This picnic area offers a peaceful site to spend an afternoon. Large hardwood trees shade the picnic shelter. A fireplace and tables provide a cozy atmosphere even in inclement weather. Large open areas allow plenty of room to play.

A small pond is stocked with fish and has an accessible fishing pier. A short nature trail is nearby.
