Spring fire burns in the John Muir wilderness

CLOVIS, Calif., July 15, 2016 – On the north-east side of Lake Thomas Edison the Spring Fire currently burning in the Ansel Adams of the Sierra National Forest. The fire is 15% containment and is being fully suppressed by all available resources on the Forest.

The fire was detected on Thursday July 14th, by the end of the day was 8 acres. Currently, the fire has grown to 40 acres. The fire is burning in a dead and down wood, which is producing smoke for the Eastern Sierra's and Inyo County. At this time there are 75 personnel, two helicopters and one air attack assigned to the fire. There are no structures threatened at this time. Hikers and campers visiting the area have been warned about the possibility of smoky conditions through the next week.

This weekend, the Sierra National Forest will be hosting the annual Huntington Lake regatta, for the first time in 2 years. The public is reminded to travel with caution when in the area, as fire equipment will be using the same road to access the fire. As weather fluctuates during the weekend, fire personnel will be working to suppress the fire.
