Trail Information: Snailback Trail is a short, scenic trail that travels through serpentine landscapes that define the Illinois Valley, and rewards adventurers with a great swimming hole on the Scenic Illinois River at the trail’s end. In the spring and early summer, wildflowers offer a treat for visitors!

Getting There: From Grants Pass, OR, travel south on Highway 199 to Selma, OR. Turn right onto Illinois River Road and travel approximately 5.4 miles to a pullout on the left side of the road, which marks the trailhead.

Considerations: Prepare for your hike! Carry plenty of water, as there is no potable water along this trail.

Snailback Trail is for pedestrian hikers only.
