Facilities
There are nine campsites, each with a BBQ grill and fire ring arranged in a single loop. There is one vault toilet in the campground. There is no drinking water at this site. You must bring your own water or you may filter or boil water from the creek when it is flowing. Sites are first-come, first-served.

Vegetation
Cottonwood trees provide shade for some of the campsites. You may notice several conifers in the center of the campground. Other plants include toyon, chamise, and sage. Toyon is especially beautiful in the fall and winter with its bright red berries.

Wildlife
Coyote, deer, bobcat, and mountain lions all live in this area. Bear have occasionally been sighted too. You are more likely to see a red-tailed hawk soaring high above, or ducks swimming in Upper Rose Lake. Frogs and toads also love this area.

Fire Use
Campfires are permitted in fire rings and BBQ grills. Please make sure your fire is completely extinguished when you are not present. Observe seasonal fire restrictions.

Points of Interest
The Rose Valley Falls Trail is a popular and well-marked hike. This trail begins near campsite #4. Follow it for a half mile and find yourself at the base of the falls. The cliffs at the falls are arkosic sandstone and easily crumbles. Please stay on the trail and do not climb around on steep sections or get close to the edge. Day hikers may park at the Upper Lake before the campground entry sign.

Nordhoff Ridge Road
At the south end of the campground, there is a locked gate on the dirt road which steeply climbs up to Nordhoff Ridge and Chief Peak. Vehicle access to this road is based on a permit system. Only motorized vehicles need a permit; hiking, bicycling, and horseback riding are allowed without one. Permits are free and issued in person. They are limited to 20 high-clearance vehicles or motorcycles per day. For reservations, contact the Ojai Ranger Station.
