

Mill Creek Patrol/Inventory 8/24/17 – Adam Washebek, Dane Scott

The primary purpose of this trip was to view the entire climbing area to ensure that the Forest Service had documented all the bolting that is present in the area. Adam Washebek and Dane Scott toured the area, took notes and photos to ensure that the FS and the climbing community had the same knowledge of bolting activity. A baseline of present bolts in the restricted bolting area was created. This allows the forest service to have a positive grasp on if any new bolts have been installed or are installed in the future.

- No changes to trail or changes to erosion issues at the base of the walls.
- Some pieces of porcelain (old smashed toilet) packed out.
- No climbers present.
- No caches present
- No new bolts
