Although short route identifiers on the current MVUM are only the routes displayed downstream of recent changes, it is likely to result in resource damage (i.e. soil erosion, vegetation loss) and potentially affect agency personnel safety. Do not have a campfire when it is dry and windy.

Traditional and Cultural Use

Traditional ties to the land and traditional use of the land are many areas on public lands that are remote. It can take a very long time to get to and from public lands. Be aware of your surroundings and be ready to respond in a safe manner if needed for current conditions.

Hill Cabin

This historic cabin sits closer than a mile from the South Rim of the Grand Canyon. The cabin was constructed in 1898 and the original structure has been slightly altered, even when it was refurbished in 1966. The cabin is surrounded by nature's wonders of pine, and provides a calm, quiet retreat for those wishing to enjoy solitude.

Havasupai Indian Village

The village of Havasupai sits in a remote area along the Havasupai Reservation within a four hour drive of Tusayan, Arizona. The village has a population of about 1,100 people and is operated by the Havasu Indian Tribe. It is located within ¼ mile of the Grand Canyon West rim.

Grandview Point

Grandview Point has a spectacular view of the Grand Canyon. A visitor center and museum are available, as well as picnic facilities and water. Grandview Point is a popular picnic area and an entrance for the Grand Canyon.

Tower

This is a tower overlooking the Grand Canyon. It is located at the North Rim of the Grand Canyon, Arizona. It is the highest point along the South Rim of the Grand Canyon, Arizona.

Kaibab National Forest

The Kaibab National Forest is located in northwestern Arizona. It is the largest forest in Arizona, covering nearly 1.2 million acres. It is home to the Grand Canyon, which is one of the most popular tourist destinations in the United States.

Tusayan Ranger District

The Tusayan Ranger District is responsible for managing and protecting the forests in the Grand Canyon National Park. It is the only ranger district in the United States that is responsible for managing a national park.

Outdoor Safety Tips

1. Always check the weather forecast and avoid being caught in a very short timeframe.
2. Never hike alone outside of the area known exactly where you are and where you will be going.
3. Do not park vehicles or camp in areas with steep slopes, standing trees, or where potential flash floods could occur. Know where you are in relation to drainage points.
4. During windy conditions, remain in open areas that are free of trees (both live and burned), and injury as much as possible.
5. If you see someone who is stranded or if you are lost, keep a well charged cell phone with you and check in frequently so you know where you are in relation to drainage points.
6. Understand that there are many areas on public lands that are remote. It can take a very long time before other firefighters arrive when a rescue is required.
