

Mill Creek Patrol/Inventory 3/13/2018 – Adam Washebek

- 8 climbers present, all parked at the gate on the cow creek road
- The Cow Creek trail was covered by 4-6" of snow with a foot path from climbers in the snow.
- The majority of the climbing routes were still wet from snowmelt so the climbers were all on First Girlfriend Buttress and the Tick Farm in the dry locations.
- No changes to trail or changes to erosion issues at the base of the walls.
- No new bolts
- Raptor closure signs were still up at Mill and Cow Creek trailheads and in good shape
- I installed a new raptor closure sign on the approach trail to the crag (see photo)
- 2 golden Eagles were present soaring in the canyon
- No trash present
- Climbing LNT Brochures were in place at the Mill Creek Trailhead. The brochure container was not present at the Cow Creek Trailhead. A new brochure container has been ordered and will be installed upon its arrival.
