

Kaibab National Forest Tribes in their Historic Landscapes

Hopis help build fence to keep cattle away from shrine near Bill Williams Mountain.

May Franklin tells Passport in Time volunteers about the Navajo views on the forest landscapes surrounding the Grand Canyon.

Havasupai's Roland Manakaja gives his tribal perspective to Alan Sullivan's University of Cincinnati Field School in the Upper Basin near the Grand Canyon.

Sweatlodge near the Grand Canyon.

Havasupai's Roland Manakaja inspects Dos Tortugas pictograph site.

Hualapais inspecting stolen rock art panel returned to its original location near Ash Fork with Kaibab National Forest Tribal Liaison Larry Lesko.

Yavapais documenting sites in Sycamore Canyon.