

TYPES OF PACK TRIPS

Spot Trips – You are taken by horseback, your gear and provisions by pack animal, to a specific campsite. The stock and packer return for you on a predetermined date. Your length of stay does not affect the charges. You furnish your own camp gear and food.

Trail Rides – Fully outfitted traveling trips are open to individuals and groups that want to join others in exploring the High Sierra. Packers supply stock, packers, cooks, tasty meals, tents and camping equipment. Length varies from 4-12 days.

All-expense Trips – The most deluxe fully outfitted service includes stock, packers, cooks, food and camp equipment. Your trip is customized regarding your itinerary, menu, livestock, guides and fishing objectives to suit your group's needs.

Hiking with Pack Stock – Fully outfitted pack trips where guests hike instead of ride.

Base Camps – Ride to a comfortable tent camp moved in by mule before your arrival. Spend your vacation at one camp. Packers provide all meals and you have your personal horse for daily rides. Ideal for first-time guests. This service is offered for any time period in the summer and is open to individuals or groups.

Dunnage Pack – Your backpacks and camp equipment are packed to a specified location and you hike to meet it. Riding animals are available for those that want to ride their first day over the pass and hike out.

Continuous Hire of Stock and Packer – The packer and stock remain with you throughout the duration of your trip. Camp gear and provisions are provided by the party.

Horse Drives – Join a packer in herding horses and mules between winter ranges and pack station corrals.

Packing Schools – Learn how to pack and manage horses in the wilderness. Various trips available throughout the summer.

Day Rides – Guided horseback trips are available for half-day and all-day rides from pack stations. Advance reservations are advised.
