Yet another worthwhile “Jobs Partnership and Community Wildfire Protection Project.” This one was north of Trinity Lake in or near the Trinity Alps Wilderness. Its purpose was to improve public access to and safety on Forest Service trails, increase effectiveness of fire suppression efforts by improving ingress and egress and reducing fuels on non-roaded lands within the Trinity Alps Wilderness.

The specific work accomplished was removal of trees and brush that have grown over or fallen on trails. Dead trees that might fall on the trail posed a hazard and were removed. As necessary, some restorative work was done on the trails themselves.
