

Carson National Forest – Forest Plan Revision User Values and Trends for the Assessment

In the Assessment phase of the Forest Plan revision, we gather information about resources, including the current condition of natural and physical resources, and the relationship that people have to those resources.

The Assessment provides a baseline understanding of the current conditions and trends impacting the forest. Please take some time to answer the questions below so that we can understand more about what YOU find important about the forest and its resources. This is not a formal comment period but the input received will be summarized and reflected in the final assessment documents. Input is requested by August 31, 2014.

1) How is the Carson National Forest Important to you and why?

2) What changes have you seen on the Carson National Forest?

3) How do you hope the forest will serve future generations?

Do you have specific data that might be useful for the assessment? If so, please provide that information here (this could be a website link, reference, etc.) or, provide your email or phone number so that we can contact you.
