

If you are looking for a place in the center of the Shawnee National Forest, then Lake Glendale Recreation Area is for you. Its central location makes it easy to visit main attractions on either side of the forest or any place in-between. Surrounded by tall pine trees and mixed hardwood forests, Lake Glendale Recreation Area offers a wide range of recreation opportunities including hiking, camping, swimming, boating, and fishing.

Camping

Oak Point Campground offers numerous sites along the lakeshore, making it one of the most popular places to camp in the Shawnee National Forest. There are 35 electric/water sites and 24 non-electric. Many of them accommodate up to a 40-foot trailer. No reservations required, campsites are available on a first-come, first-serve basis.

A campground concessionaire is on-site. Each campsite has a table and fire ring. Shower houses are centralized within the campground, as well as water spigots in non-electric loops.

Day-use Activities

Enjoy a multitude of outdoor activities in the quiet setting of Lake Glendale. The 82-acre lake offers good fishing opportunities for bass, bluegill, channel catfish, crappie and sunfish. The picnic areas feature flush toilets and large open areas for games or group gatherings. There are plenty of interesting places just a short drive from the recreation area. Take a leisurely hike around the lake on the Lake Glendale Trail (entire loop is 3 miles).
