

Santa Fe National Forest – Forest Plan Revision
User Values and Trends for the Assessment
Summer 2014

In the Assessment phase of the Forest Plan revision, we gather information about resources, including the current condition of natural and physical resources, and the relationship that people have to those resources.

The Assessment provides a baseline understanding of the current conditions and trends impacting the forest. Please take some time to answer the questions below so that we can understand more about what YOU find important about the forest and its resources. *This is not a formal comment period but the input received will be summarized and reflected in the final assessment documents. Input is requested by July 31, 2014.

1) What do you appreciate about Santa Fe National Forest? Why do you visit it? Was there a particular time when it had a meaningful impact for you? Is there a particular use that you really value?

2) What about Santa Fe National Forest has changed in the past? What do you see continuing to change?

Do you have specific data that might be useful for the assessment? If so, please provide that information here (this could be a website link, reference, etc.) or, provide your email or phone number so that we can contact you.
