

Celebrating the Great Law: The Wilderness Act at 50

A gathering hosted by the
Getches-Wilkinson Center &
The Wilderness Society

September 4 & 5, 2014

Wolf Law Building, University of Colorado

Featuring

Charles Wilkinson, Distinguished Professor & Moses Lasky Professor of Law, CU Law School

Jamie Williams, President, The Wilderness Society

Rick Bass, Author/Environmental Activist – The Ninemile Wolves; Why I Came West

William deBuys, Author/Advocate – A Great Aridness; The Walk

John Fielder, Photographer/Writer/Conservationist – Mountain Ranges of Colorado

William Kittredge, Author/Editor – Owning It All; A Hole in the Sky

And stories, yarns, yearnings, and wisdom from some of the best voices for wilderness

On September 3, 2014, the National Wilderness Preservation System—established and protected by the Wilderness Act of 1964—celebrates its 50th anniversary. We are gathering to celebrate Wilderness and to commemorate the great law so central to its protection.

This will not be an ordinary conference, full of dry presentations or policy debates. Instead, we will bring together inspiring, insightful, and compelling Wilderness luminaries. We will tell the story of the Wilderness movement over the course of the last 50 years, to rearticulate the ethos of the Wilderness community in light of that history, and to take a moment to reflect on and appreciate the progress that has been made.

This event is free, but registration is required.

For a full event agenda and to register, please visit:

<http://www.colorado.edu/law/research/gwc/events>