Renfro OHV Trail makes a loop south of the S-Tree Campground following the ridgeline southeast of Forest Road 431 before dropping down a steep, rocky hill into Renfro Branch. The remaining part of the trail is a slow climb back to the campground. The trail is through wooded terrain. Although portions of the trail could be easily negotiated by beginners, there are two steep hills which make the trail best suited for intermediate riders.

This route connects to the Sheltopee Trace Section 21 by a spur trail 302A (.25 miles). Trailhead is at the intersection of Forest Road 431 and Forest Road 20. This trail is suitable for ATVs less than 50" wide, motorcycles, and mountain bicycles.
