History by the Foot...

*N*ez Perce ponies, Salish moccasins...surveyors' shoes, infantrymen's brogans, miners' boots, explorers' shoepacks...packers' jacks, army jennies, cavalry chargers...even dog tracks and puppy paws.

*H*istorical hooves and forgotten feet gave us this trail over centuries. Using your feet carefully can help preserve it, and make your exploration safe.

Take a few moments to walk a section of the original Lolo Trail.

This 0.4-mile loop, starting to the right, will allow you to trace the footsteps of these early day travelers.

LOLO NATIONAL FOREST