

TRAILS
SUPERSTITION WILDERNESS

There is a network of some 170 miles of “system” trails serving the Superstition Wilderness Area and contiguous areas. Their condition varies from satisfactory to very poor. All trails are closed to motor vehicles and mechanical transport such as bikes.

Use a great deal of caution when traveling on backcountry trails such as this one and be aware of the risks you assume.

A few brief comments are in order about the following trail:

Frog Tanks Trail 112: 6.8 miles long. This trail is a very scenic but little-used. Eastern section is old roadway; southern section is difficult (with one very steep part), and is not recommended for horses. A section in Rogers Canyon is subject to heavy flood damage. Elevation: 3,300 - 4,820 feet. Termini: Trail 109, and Trail 110.

No more than 15 people are allowed to be in a group. No more than 15 head of livestock are allowed in a group.
