

TRAILS

SUPERSTITION WILDERNESS

There is a network of some 170 miles of “system” trails serving the Superstition Wilderness Area and contiguous areas. Their condition varies from satisfactory to very poor. All trails are closed to motor vehicles and mechanical transport such as bikes.

Use a great deal of caution when traveling on backcountry trails such as this one and be aware of the risks you assume.

A few brief comments are in order about the following trail:

Hieroglyphic Trail 101: 1.1 miles in length. An easy hike up to an area where Indian petroglyphs are. Trail begins at the forest boundary. Access to this point is across State Trust land and private land. Respect private property right.
