

TRAILS FOUR PEAKS WILDERNESS

There is a network of some 40 miles of “system” trails serving the Four Peaks Wilderness Area and contiguous areas. Their condition varies from satisfactory to very poor. All trails are closed to motor vehicles and mechanical transport such as bikes.

Use a great deal of caution when traveling on backcountry trails such as this one and be aware of the risks you assume.

A few brief comments are in order about the following trail:

Alder Creek Trail 82: 12 miles in long. This trail skirts the southern slopes of Four Peaks and then follows Alder Creek to where it climbs to Black Bear Saddle and intersects Four Peaks Trail 130. Travelers can enjoy the transition from desert to forest. Washed out and overgrown in some places. Elevation: 2280 - 5560 feet. Termini: Cane Spring TH. Difficulty Level: Most difficult. Use Level: Very light. Not recommended for horses.

Use of any mechanized or motorized is prohibited on this trail. No more than 15 people are allowed to be in a group. No more than 15 head of livestock are allowed in a group.
