

Major River Basins of the Rocky Mountain Region

National forests dominate the headwaters of the six major river basins that drain the Rocky Mountain Region, and contribute more water to these rivers than any other lands.