Dear Mr. Abbey:

The 2011 National Smokey Bear Awards nomination period is now open. As you know, this prestigious award program recognizes organizations and/or individuals for outstanding service in wildfire prevention programs. These awards remind us of the hard work our employees and cooperators do to reduce the threat of human-caused wildfires. This award program is sponsored by the U.S. Forest Service, the Ad Council, and the National Association of State Foresters.

The three nomination categories are Gold, Silver, and Bronze. Award categories recognize outstanding, sustained service of at least two years with significant program impact in wildfire prevention at the national level (Gold), multi-state level (Silver), and statewide level (Bronze).

The nominations for the 2011 National Smokey Bear Awards will be evaluated against specific criteria that measure the scope, program impact, partnerships, and unique qualities of each nominee. You will find the 2011 nomination form enclosed. The nomination form and other program related information also are on the following web site:
