

Wildland Urban Interface

The wildland urban interface is defined as the line, area, or zone where structures and other human development meet or intermingle with undeveloped wildland or vegetative fuels. This map shows the areas considered to be within the wildland urban interface.

Wildland urban interface boundaries were developed by grasslands district staff in 2006. These boundaries were identified by looking at areas around constructed features of concern.