

Road Density Based on System Roads Within the Administrative Boundary

These maps depict the range of road densities of Forest Service system roads (miles per square mile) found on the National Grasslands.

The road density datasets and these maps were developed by the Forest Service in January 2007 and used the most currently available system roads data.