Common Name: northern bugleweed

Scientific Name: Lycopus uniflorus

Recommendation: Insufficient information available at this time

Recommendation Rationale:

One occurrence known in WY Black Hills; one in CO (uncertain if on USFS land); occasional and possibly abundant in SD Black Hills; possibly common in fens of the sandhills of NE, however, high quality fens are uncommon and few fens are found on USFS-administered lands. The habitats mentioned for this species are not abundant in R2 (fens, emergent wetlands). We believe there is Insufficient Information to make a determination on this species. More survey is needed to determine its distribution and abundance in R2.
