Recommendation Rationale
The species distribution is mostly in Canada, from Newfoundland to Alaska, but also in the Lakes States and New England. Two locations known in CO, widely disjunct from the main population. Occurs in cold, wooded swamps, often in shallow mossy depressions around trees in Lakes States and New England; also found in sunny wet meadows in northern part of its range. No current locations known from NFS lands. Threats include recreation use and logging. Because the CO population is disjunct and very rare, potential habitat may exist on NFS lands, and potential threats to habitat exist, this species merits sensitive status.
