For many years Big Flat CG suffered from a backlog of maintenance typical of many national forest campgrounds: vandalized picnic tables, smelly vault toilets past their prime, etc. With recent planning efforts in the Hurdygurdy area of the Smith River NRA, a focus has been placed on the 27-site Big Flat Campground. In 2006 recreation fee revenues were used to rebuild three sites at this popular campground. They are now universally accessible with new tables, fire rings with grills, and were leveled and resurfaced for ease of wheelchair use. In addition, the old toilets were replaced with new Sweet Smelling toilets in 2005 with REA revenues.
