Superior National Forest - Big Moose Trail

Description

From the parking lot, the trail follows an old roadbed for about a half mile, then turns right and traverses a forest of jack pine and aspen for most of its length. The last half mile of this trail passes through mature red, white and jack pine and aspen with areas of ledge rock. Watch for piles of rocks, called cairns, to guide you on the ledge rock. This southernmost section of trail is in the Boundary Waters Canoe Area Wilderness (BWCAW). By following a few simple rules, you can help to preserve the area's wilderness character.

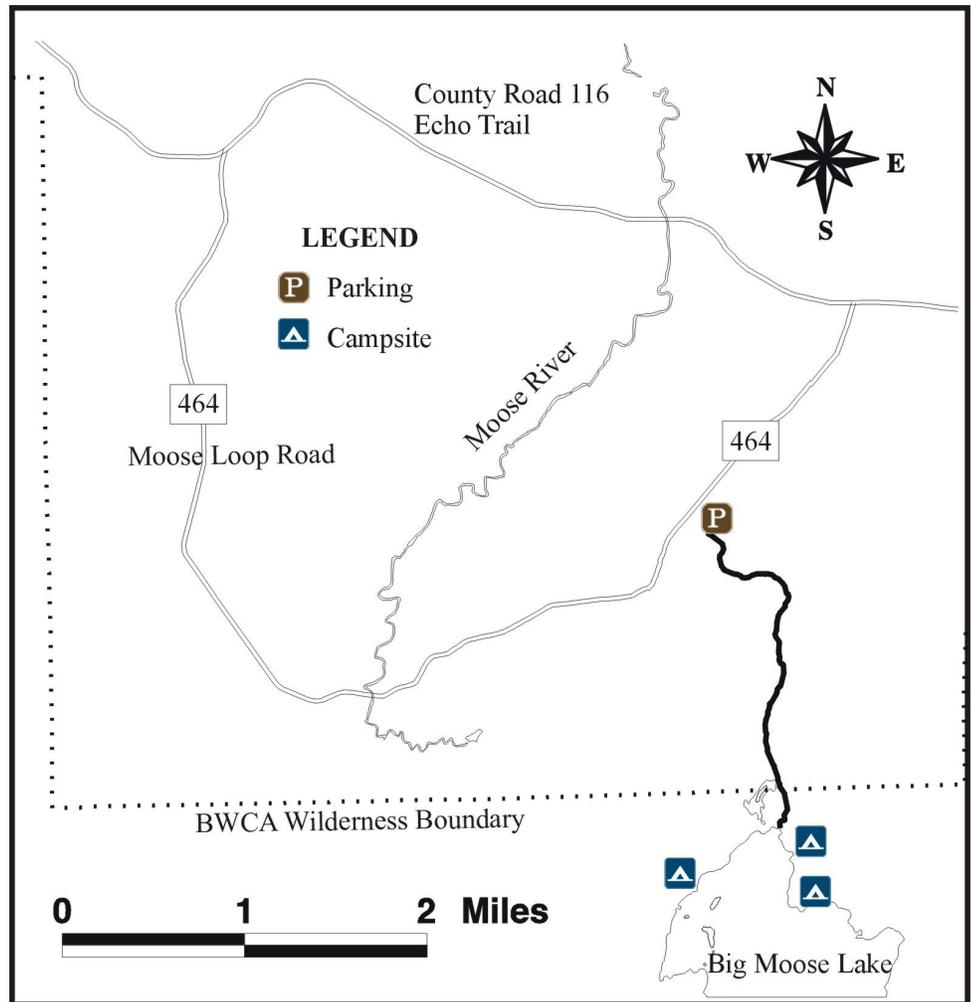

Whenever you enter the BWCA wilderness:

- A permit is required.
- Limit of 9 people in a group.
- No cans or bottles.
- Overnight hikers must camp at a campsite (see map) or at least 150 feet from the trail or lakeshore.
- Build fires, when allowed, only in the fire grates at campsites.
