

Spring Opening – Podcast

(Noise: birds chirping)

Announcer:

Spring time means green grass, wildflowers, baby animals, lush valleys and the opportunity to finally get out of your house and into the mountains to go exploring, hiking and taking that mountain drive. But remember, driving on muddy roads can damage the roadways and is costly to fix, not including the damage it causes to the soils, streams, and plants around the roads. A rule of thumb is, if you leave a mark in the trail, it's not fit for travel. For more information on road and trail conditions as well as season openings, please visit your local Forest Service office.
