Dry Saint Vrain Trail # 920

Difficulty: Easy

Trail Use: Low to Moderate

Length: 1.5 miles to North Saint Vrain Creek. DISTANCE IS ONE-WAY.

Elevation: 7,440 feet at Dry Saint Vrain Trailhead (TH); 6,600 feet at North Saint Vrain Creek.

Open To: Hiking

Access

- From Lyons, head 15 miles north on Colorado Highway 7. Just east and within view of the turnoff for Riverside (on the south side of the highway), watch for a turnoff on the north side marked with a line of mailboxes and house.
- Follow this road north up the hill. This is National Forest System Road 185, but may not be signed as such. Avoid private property and driveways. Stay on the road most traveled.
- Final access to the trailhead is marked by a sign. The last 0.25 miles of road is very rough. A higher clearance 4WD vehicle is recommended.

Trail Highlights

- Dry Saint Vrain Trail #920 leads gradually downhill for about a mile, as it roughly follows an intermittent tributary of the North Saint Vrain Creek.
- The last stretch of trail to North Saint Vrain Creek drops to the creek bed. North Saint Vrain Creek runs heavy in the spring and early summer or during periods of driving rain and may be difficult or impossible to cross.

Important Information

- Permits are not required for overnight camping and campfires are allowed.
- If you would like to have a campfire during the dry summer months, it is advisable to contact the Boulder Ranger District (303-541-2500) before your trip in regards to possible fire bans.
