Looks like there may be enough for the last sawmill to survive. Where are all the jobs it talks about going to come from? There has to be an increasing volume and a long term volume to get the investment in new jobs. With the current administration, the roadless rule and the power of the environmental groups, I know you guys have a hard pull, but you need to make this happen. We have to be able to manage our natural resources, or we are putting the demand on third world countries that have no regulations, no regard for the environment, or wildlife.

Dissapointed
