Please respond by August 27, 2013

The Los Padres National Forest is currently conducting outreach to fill a permanent GS- 482-11/12 Fish Biologist position. This notification is being circulated to inform prospective applicants of this opportunity and to determine interest.

DUTIES: Serves as a fishery biologist on a Forest Service unit, responsible for a Forest riparian/aquatic habitat management, protection, rehabilitation, and enhancement program. Advises staff by providing specialized professional review and recommendation on policies, plans, methodologies, and practices that will affect or be affected by riparian/aquatic habitat management considerations. Provides expert functional, specialized advice on an interdisciplinary approach to the development of short- and long-range plans. Formulates and recommends Forest programs for riparian/aquatic habitat management. Identifies need for, analyzes and recommends schedules and priorities. Studies water development projects and other land use projects proposed for National Forest lands by other Federal agencies, private organizations, and Districts under Federal permit, easement, or license to determine whether riparian/aquatic resource values have received adequate consideration and have been coordinated with other features of the program.

HOW TO APPLY: This position will be advertised sometime following the close of the outreach period. You may acquire a copy of the announcement from the internet, at (www.jobsearch.usajobs.opm.gov). This web-based application provides individuals interested in employment opportunities with the Forest Service to apply for jobs.
