

Forks Trail (FATS)

Located in the southern portion of the Long Cane Ranger District, the Forks Trail (also known as “FATS” in the biking community) was designed with the mountain biking enthusiast in mind. Six stacked loops accessed from various locations, provide up to 34 miles of hiking or biking through a variety of topography and vegetation. Highlights of your visit could include panoramic views, glimpses of wildlife and a distinctive, large grouping of saw palmetto not normally seen in this part of South Carolina.
