

OUTDOOR TEACHER WORKSHOP

Winter Explorations

On the Grand Mesa

TEACHING ENVIRONMENTS NATURALLY SERIES

Saturday January 25, 9 AM-3 PM

US Forest Service Grand Mesa Visitors Center

Don't hibernate, celebrate! Learn to use the winter landscape as your classroom. All teachers, all grades, all subjects welcome.

TOPICS AND INFO:

- Winter Ecology: Track animals, explore how plants and animals survive the snow season.
- Winter Fitness: Learn to cross country ski or snowshoe. Need gear? Tell us when you register!
- Snow Science: Study snow density, water content, layers, and crystals.
- Winter safety: Explore winter safety and survival methods, dig an avalanche study pit.
- Cost: $10 suggested donation to Grand Valley Nordic Council's "Skis for Kids" fund
- Credit: Adams State Graduate Credit ($27.50 fee, ½ unit)
- Part of the "Teaching Environments Naturally" educator series. Attend Jan 25 and our three-day June training to be eligible for bus funding, equipment kits, and 2 units of graduate credit.

REGISTRATION DEADLINE MONDAY JANUARY 20, 2014 5:00 PM

For information and to register, contact:

Leigh Gillette Colorado Parks and Wildlife

(970) 375-6709

leigh.gillette@state.co.us

