

A map of Oregon with four locations marked: Salem, Albany, Eugene, and Medford. Lines connect these locations, showing a network of connections. Salem is connected to Albany and Eugene. Albany is connected to Eugene. Eugene is connected to Medford. Medford is connected back to Salem, completing a loop.

Three windows for future energy transmission corridors have been identified. Prior to any utility development, an additional environmental analysis will be prepared in accordance with the National Environmental Policy Act.