

CHAPTER 4 OTHER ISSUES

Introduction

This chapter provides a discussion of the issues determined not to be significant to the decision among alternatives for a Travel Management Plan. The National Environmental Policy Act provides for the identification and elimination from detailed study those issues which are not significant or which have been covered by prior environmental review, thus narrowing the discussion of those issues to a brief statement as to why they will not have a significant effect on the human environment or by providing reference to their coverage elsewhere (40 CFR 1501.7(3)). This chapter discloses the information that led the Forest Service to determine that these issues were not significant and therefore did not warrant detailed study.

Several non-significant issues identified in Chapter 2 were dismissed in that discussion, and did not carry forward into Chapter 4 sections. That is why issue numbers are not always sequential, and it appears that some issues may have been left out.
