7.3 Trails along riparian corridors

Riparian corridors are critical areas for many ecological functions which can be negatively impacted by poorly-designed and -managed recreational trails. To minimize impacts and maintenance issues, locate the primary trail to the outside of the riparian corridor and then provide access to the riparian area at strategic points.

7.3 References

7.3 Outdoor Recreation

