1930.5 - Definitions

Agency Request. Developed by the constituent agencies of the Department of Agriculture about 15 months in advance of the budget year, which represents the Agency Heads' budget recommendations to the Secretary of Agriculture.

Budget Authority. The authority provided by law to incur financial obligations that will result in outlays, such as appropriations, borrowing authority, contract authority, and spending authority from offsetting collections.

a. Appropriations. Statutory authority that allows Federal agencies to incur obligations and to make payments out of the Treasury for specified purposes. An appropriation usually follows enactment of authorizing legislation. An appropriation act is the most common means of providing budget authority, but in some cases the authorizing legislation itself provides the budget authority (for example: the Knutson Vandenberg Trust Fund, the Salvage Sale Fund, Brush Disposal, and so forth).

b. Contract authority. Statutory authority under which contracts or other obligations may be entered into prior to an appropriation for the payment of such obligations. The later enacted appropriation provides cash to liquidate such obligations.

Budget Justification. Formerly called "Explanatory Notes", describes how the Forest Service plans to use the funds included in the President's budget to accomplish the Agency's mission.

Continuing Resolution. When Congress cannot complete action on one or more of the thirteen regular appropriations bills by the start of the fiscal year, it provides temporary emergency funding for the affected Federal agencies through a continuing resolution (a joint resolution). Congress authorizes and appropriates money to keep government agencies in operation for short periods, typically 1 to 3 months, unless extended, until the passage of the appropriations bills.

Department Estimate. The estimate submitted by the Secretary of Agriculture to the Office of Management and Budget around 12 months in advance of the budget year pursuant to that office's formal "call" for estimates and represent the Secretary's official recommendations to the President.

Explanatory Notes. The budget justification to Congress that describes how the Forest Service plans to use the funds included in the President's budget to accomplish the Agency's mission. The Explanatory Notes is a detailed accounting of the information included in the Budget Appendix.

Permanent Authority. Budget authority made available each year by virtue of a one-time or standing legislation and does not require further action by the Congress. When Congressional action provides such authority, it is considered "current" in the first year in which provided and "permanent" in succeeding years (for example: the Knutson Vandenberg Trust Fund, the Salvage Sale Fund, and Brush Disposal).

Program. Sets of activities or projects with specific objectives, defined in terms of specific results and responsibilities for accomplishments.

Reprogramming. The use of funds in an appropriation account for purposes other than those contemplated at the time of appropriation. Reprogramming is generally preceded by consultation between the Agency, OMB, and the appropriate Congressional committees. It involves formal notification to the appropriate Congressional committees and subsequent approval by the committees.

Rescission. Enacted legislation that cancels the availability of budget authority (BA) previously provided by Congress before the time the BA would otherwise lapse. The Impoundment Control Act of 1974, as amended, requires the President to transmit a special message to Congress whenever a rescission of BA is proposed. Congress must then enact legislation to rescind the funds. If legislation is not completed within 45 days after a rescission proposal is received in Congress, the funds must be made available for obligation.

Sequestration. The cancellation of budgetary resources. The Statutory Pay-As-You-Go Act of 2010 requires such cancellations if revenue or direct spending legislation is enacted that, in total, increases projected deficits or reduces projected surpluses relative to the baseline. Under the law, selected mandatory programs would be subject to across-the-board cancellations.

Target. Quantifiable or otherwise measurable characteristic that tells how well or at what level a program aspires to perform, also known as "performance measurements" such as the number of acres re-forested.

1930.6 - Process Schedule and Documentation of Decisions

The program development and budgeting process is comprised of ten steps. The Washington Office, Director of Strategic Planning, Budget and Accountability manages the program development and budgeting process while also maintaining the following information as a record of the decisions relating to the Budget process.

Step 1. Development of Program Budget Instructions. The program development and budgeting process begins with the preparation of instructions for formulating budget proposals. The national direction provides the guidelines for:

- a. Meeting the long-term policy direction in the Forest and Rangeland Renewable Resources Planning Act of 1974.
- b. Implementing the Forest Land Management Plans, State Resource Plans, Research Plans, and Administrative Plans to the extent practical within the funding constraints provided.

Step 2. Development and Presentation of Alternative Program Budget Proposals. Regions, Stations, and the Area develop program proposals based on information from local units that respond to national and regional direction. The field forwards these proposals to the Washington Office where they are used to develop national program alternatives.

Step 3. Development of the Agency's Request-USDA. National program alternatives are used to formulate the Agency's budget request to the Secretary of Agriculture. In addition to the technical budget documents, the Program Development and Budget staff develops a presentation and justification package (a set of documents), to support and explain in more detail the Forest Service requested budget alternative.

Step 4. Development of the Department's Estimate-Office of Management and Budget. The Department of Agriculture submits an estimate for the Forest Service budget to the Office of Management and Budget, along with technical budget documents, special justifications, and tables. After consideration and resolution of appeals, the OMB allowance becomes the President's budget.

Step 5. Development of Budget Justification and Presentation-Congress. When the President's Budget is received from OMB, the Strategic Planning, Budget and Accountability staff prepares work on the Budget Appendix and Explanatory Notes. The Strategic Planning, Budget and Accountability staff also (a) briefs witnesses for committee hearings; (b) prepares displays for committee hearings; and (c) responds to appropriation subcommittee questions that continue until the appropriations bill is signed into law.

Step 6. Initial Annual Program Direction. The Strategic Planning, Budget, and Accountability staff prepares the Initial Program Direction that includes funding allocations, targets, and national program emphasis, and distributes to all units based upon the President's Budget.

Step 7. Final Program Direction. The Initial Program Direction (Step 6) is updated to reflect final allocations and information based on appropriations from Congress.

Step 8. Mid-year Reviews. All units submit mid-year financial and attainment reports, as appropriate. Chief and staff review these requests and the justifications for changes in accountability and make necessary adjustments.

Step 9. End of Fiscal Year Reports. All field units report final attainments (performance accomplishments). Attainment information is used in the management review process and in the preparation of yearend reports.

Step 10. Annual Report of the Forest Service. The Strategic Planning, Budget and Accountability Staff prepares the Annual Performance Report, which describes accomplishments related to annual appropriations and the USDA Strategic Plan and the Forest Service Strategic Plan.

1930.7 - Overview

1930.71 - Relationship With Land Management Planning and Resources Planning Act

1. Planning Process. Long-range planning occurs within the overall framework of the Forest and Rangeland Renewable Resources Planning Act, as amended by the National Forest Management Act, and their implementing regulations. Refer to FSM 1920 for Forest Land Management Planning.

In addition, State forest resource plans, developed by the States for State and private land, and Research plans are integral parts of the total planning process.

2. Program Development and Budgeting. Land management plans, State plans, Research plans and Administrative plans provide the basis for annual budget proposals. The rate and level of plan implementation depends on the funding and workforce made available through the annual budgeting and appropriation process.
